McArthur believes that Mason will be at Sid Greehey's office any minute. He likely fears that Mason is about to learn about the mailout done in secret on two weeks earlier on 4/4.

Twenty-two minutes later when communications resume, the advice that my agent has is to sell it to Run Title.com. This is something that could have waited.

Upon information and belief during this 22 minute interval, McArthur and Greehey spoke on the phone and devised a plan to convert Mason's IP to their own use by concealing the success they were seeing from the mailout two weeks earlier. I'm in San Antonio from April 19, through the week, but Sid is "out of town".
