Do you have the key or is it necessary to go to the dealer?

Just wanted to let you know that due to a car key that I can't afford another one not because I haven't been working but I just didn't budget that I would be outside and not based on some principled life lesson on your part. So here eight days before my 50th birthday and I'm going to sleep outside for the first time with no protection period so I just wanted to say thanks to you both. You remember when the pandemic started you said we're all in this together. Wow. I look at the Hobbes in envy. They wouldn't think of throwing one of their own like you've done period not because of something I did but because you guys are afraid you'll get caught and that should wear on you. It would wear on me like hell. I might be dead tomorrow knows like I'm Cannon fodder out here but I've been told my car will get towed tonight period and I don't have the key or money for a tow yard so I guess I'm going to be cannon fodder for a little while. That's okay if I make it I will have yet another story to tell.

Thanks Mom
